Michael Rabin

Rabin Acclaimed by Leading Music Critics

Third Artist Series Scheduled for Feb. 24

An eighteen year old virtuoso violinist who has won enthusiastic acclaim from audiences and critics alike will appear here, Thursday evening at 8:30, Feb. 24 in the Memorial chapel for the third Artist Series offering.

Michael Rabin will perform "Sonata in G minor" by Tartini; "Concerto in A minor" by Alexander Glazounoff; "Poeme, Op. 25" by Ernest Chausson; "Nocturne, Op. 27, No. 2" by Frederic Chopin-Wilhelmj; "Zephyr" by Jeno Hubay; "Caprice in A minor" by Henri Wieniawski; and Romanian Folk Dances by Bela Bartok-Szekely for the Appleton audience.

The eighteen year old violinist has played with such leading orchestras in this country as the Boston, New York Philharmonic, Detroit, Dallas, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Baltimore, and Denver. He has appeared on the Telephone Hour more than a dozen times. Even before his official debut, Rabin had played with the Rhode Island Philharmonic, at the age of twelve, with the National Orchestral association twice, and with the Havana Philharmonic.

Frequently in these last few years the critics may have been at a loss to find a word to substitute for "prodigy," when they were reviewing a Rabin performance, but more often than not they have simply called it "genius" and let it go at that.

As the Chicago Tribune's musical arbiter, Claudia Cassidy, wrote after his most recent Chicago recital: "His is a prodigious talent, inborn and instinctive, and age has nothing to do with such talent. . . Rabin is es-entially what he always will be, and that is the mark of an artist. It is the indefinable stamp of individual quality. You can't fake it, you can't explain it, and in the realm of magnetic musical attraction you can't get to first base without it."

This past summer, when Rabin played with the Chicago Symphony under William Steinberg at Ravinia, Miss Cassidy added: "If I had to check off on the fingers of one hand the big new talents in music, Michael Rabin would be no afterthought, nor would he wait for the fifth finger. I am not at all sure he would not get the first. For this young violinist, still on the boy's side of 20, has an enormous gift, a soaring present, and every chance of a brilliant future."

When Rabin played the Tchaikowsky Concerto at New York's Lewisohn stadium in June, Louis Biancolli wrote in the New York World-Telegram & Sun: "I am reminded that when I wrote up Mr. Rabin's debut a few years ago I said he was 'a Heifetz in the making.' I would say the 'making' is over and that Mr. Rabin is a full-fledged artist with a bold, imaginative stride of his own. In fact, if some exciting youngster of the bow now comes along, I might be tempted to call him 'a Rabin in the making.'"

He opened his United States tour in January, and is scheduled to play with the orchestras of Cincinnati, Tulsa, Miami and Atlanta, among others.

This concert is included in the student convocation schedule. Attendance is required.

A reception will be held in the Riverview lounge after the concert. The reception is open to the public.

Honorary Society To Sponsor Three Lectures in Spring

A series of three lectures will be sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa during the early spring months, with faculty members as guest lecturers.

Dr. Maurice P. Cunningham, associate professor of classics will speak March 1. Dr. Cunningham will talk about a ninth century manuscript from the Newberry Library in Chicago which he was invited to examine by the librarian, Dr. Stanley Parjellis, last summer. "Quires and Choirs" is the title of the lecture.

Miss Anne Jones, professor of French, will give "A Tribute to Colette" the late French novelist, April 13, and the series will conclude April 26 with Dr. W. E. Haisley, assistant professor of physics, who has as his subject "On the Origins and Uses of Cosmic Rays."

The lectures will be held in the Worcester art center at 8 o'clock of the dates mentioned. President of Wisconsin Gamma chapter of Phi Beta Kappa is Dr. M. M. Sealts, associate professor of English; and secretary is Hastings A. Brubaker, librarian and professor.

The lectures are open to the public without admission charge.

Permanent senior class officers were elected at a meeting Tuesday evening. Ken Cummins was elected president and Susan LaRose was elected secretary.

Relate History of Best Loved Tradition on Lawrence Campus

BY BARBARA BENNETT

The most thrilling night of February for every girl on campus is the night of the annual Best Loved banquet, to be held this year on Thursday, Feb. 24. Tickets are on sale at Ormsby, Sage, and Sage Cottage.

An air of excitement and expectancy floats through the crowd as they hear the first strains of the minuet. The next moment they behold the four "best loved" senior girls standing in the doorway, attired in the colonial costumes of George and Martha Washington and James and Dolly Madison.

The Best Loved banquet, which has now become an annual tradition, was first started in 1924 and was sponsored by the YWCA. The four "best loved" girls, then chosen from the junior and senior classes, were dressed in the colonial costumes of George and Martha Washington and James and Dolly Madison, who came back from the past to view the present day customs. At the first Colonial banquet in 1924, all those present were attired in colonial costumes and the minuet was danced by four members of the dancing class. Part of the entertainment was a pageant to show the honored guests the customs of the times, and the banquet also served as a business meeting for the YWCA.

Although the passing of the years has somewhat changed the purpose and a few details of the banquet, it is still essentially the same exciting event. The four "best loved" senior girls are chosen by sophomore, junior and senior women; the outcome of the election remains secret until the four girls appear in the doorway, prepared to dance the charming minuet.

Their proud mothers, whose arrival is also kept secret, will be there to greet the honored couples and the room fills with gaiety, laughter, and perhaps a few tears of joy!

The Best Loved banquet, now sponsored by LWA, is one of the most thrilling and exciting nights at Lawrence, and the speculation about possible winners is already in full swing. Join in the fun, girls! Tickets will be on sale in Ormsby, Sage, and Sage cottage until Monday, February 21.

As vice president of LWA, Nancy Brice will serve as head of LWA judicial board which handles women's disciplinary problems.

Miss Bernthal succeeds Ne-nah Fry in the presidential position. She will preside over next Tuesday's meeting. A dinner for the new officers was held at Sage following the inauguration.

Green Bay Station Presents $10,000 Transmitter to College

Knight Appoints Faculty Group To Investigate Programming

Lawrence will have its own frequency modulation station in the future, in part, the result of a gift from the Green Bay Press Gazette Publishing company.

The newspaper has presented Lawrence with a 3000 watt transmitter formerly used by its station WJPG-FM. John Walter of Green Bay, Lawrence alumnus and station manager of WJPG, acted as representative for the paper. The transmitter was originally valued in excess of $10,000.

The executive committee of the Lawrence board of trustees officially accepted the gift, and authorized the purchase of several additional pieces of equipment — a control board, two record players, a tape recorder, studio amplifiers, monitors, a tower and an antenna.

The station will have a radius of 40 to 50 miles, and will be an educational, non-commercial enterprise. It will be directed by a board of control made up of both students and faculty members.

Two senior students, Tom Roberts and Donald Sieb have taken responsibility for making the station ready from a technical standpoint. They have already wired the transmitter under the direction of Fred Hervey, engineer of WH-KW in Chilton.

President Knight has appointed a faculty committee to investigate the general aspects of the enterprise.

The group composed of F. Theodore Cloak, professor of drama; La Vahn Maesch, director of the conservatory; Merton M. Sealts, associate professor of English; Harlan S. Kirk, business manager and President Knight will investigate the kind of station to be set up, the kind of programs to be scheduled and the kind of information necessary for launching a successful station.

The committee believes that there is a genuine educational service which the station can perform that is not being performed by any other station.

The committee will go to Madison to talk with the heads of the university's FM station to see what Lawrence's station can do that will not be a duplication of the work being done in Madison. The committee will also check with the National association of Educational Broadcasters.

According to President Knight, the committee feels that whatever is done will have to be done experimentally and gradually, but that there is something of genuine worth in the operation.

The studio is being set up in the south basement of the women's gymnasium which is centrally located on campus.

ROTC Instructors Attend Conference

St. Olaf College recently played host to a group of fourth year AF ROTC instructors from three midwestern states for a critique of the "Leadership and Management" course taught by these men in their various schools. The Lawrence representative was Captain Roy L. Anderson, instructor and counselor of the fourth year cadets.

Instructors from AF ROTC units on campuses throughout Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa assembled at St. Olaf Jan. 28 and 29. The purpose of the meeting was to evaluate, criticize and discuss the "Leadership and Management" course which was taught for the first time this year. The results of these discussions should provide an improved course for next years students.

Captain Anderson, in addition to his duties and instructor and counselor, is swimming coach and assistant football coach.

Cox Guest Soloist

George F. Cox, assistant professor of voice, will be guest soloist for the 1955 spring concert of the Chaminade chorus. James Ming, associate professor of piano, will be his accompanist. The annual Chaminade concert will be presented March 19 at the Appleton High school auditorium.

Exhibit Features Faculty Art Work

An exhibition of paintings of faculty artists in American colleges and universities is now on display in the lecture hall of the Worcester Art Center. The forty-two watercolors in this exhibit are the property of the Ford Motor Company and have been selected from a collection of over twenty-five hundred contemporary American paintings assembled during the past six years for reproduction in company publications.

It has been the policy of the Ford publication office to seek out regional artists in all parts of the United States and Canada to paint watercolors for the travel articles published in the Ford Times and the Lincoln-Mercury Times.

Nominations for SEC President Due Feb. 21; Change Voting Day

Nominations for student body president will close Monday, Feb. 21 and the candidates will submit their platforms to the Lawrentian on this date. Candidates must turn in their nomination petitions with 50 signatures to Irv Curry, SEC president by Feb. 21.

Convocation for the presentation of candidates and their platforms will be held Thursday, March 3. Voting will take place the next day, Friday, instead of the following Monday as was the previous custom. Inauguration will be held Monday March 7.

The SEC decided to move up the voting day to Friday from Monday because it was felt that the peak of the campaigning was reached on Thursday during convo and therefore voting should follow shortly after. SEC made the change because in previous years the campaign periods were too long and too strenuous for the candidates.

Name Sue Brainerd To Music Editorship

Sue Brainerd has been chosen to serve as Music editor for the Lawrentian for the second semester, according to the editor. Miss Brainerd is a sophomore. She was Music editor during the second semester of her freshman year. A member of Alpha Delta Pi, she has sung in the "Messiah" Miss Brainerd and is a member of the concert choir. Miss Brainerd is co-chairman of the SEC coffee hours and is a dorm proctor. She succeeds Elizabeth Auld who was editor for the music department during the first semester of this school year.

Panel Group to Discuss 'Lonely Crowd' Feb. 22

Four Lawrence college instructors will present a panel discussion on Riesman's "The Lonely Crowd" Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 11 o'clock in the Memorial chapel. The panel will give a critical examination of the methods, concepts and implications of the book. Riesman's book is presently being studied in the freshman studies classes.

Mr. Chandler Rowe, Mr. John Bucklew and Mr. Padriac Frucht are participating in the presentation. Mr. E. Graham Waring will act as moderator of the panel. The panel discussion will be held in the third week of the study of the book.

German Editor Views Urban, Campus Activity On American Tour

By Marguerite Schumann

"My greatest impression of America is that in five weeks no one has asked me to make any propaganda for it," is the lively observation of Dr. Peter Paul Pauquet, a recent Appleton visitor.

Dr. Pauquet, editor-in-chief of a weekly Catholic newspaper in Cologne, Germany, is one of 250 men brought from all over the world to the United States this year on a friendship program run by the United States department of state. "They call us 'leaders'," Dr. Pauquet smiles with a tinge of apology.

He is known to be a journalist, who is shipping off stories to his home paper, and yet he has not been asked to put in a plug for the host country — that is what amazes Dr. Pauquet.

It is because he has a sharp eye for inaccuracy and is not cowed by American press service that Dr. Pauquet is in this country at all.

There is an American news agency in Germany, and they sent articles and news to our paper — Catholic articles. There were several mistakes in the articles, and I criticized the mistakes. The American Consul General in Dusseldorf wrote and asked me to visit America. They know that by mistakes you can't find friends in newspapers. For two years I couldn't go because of my work, but they continued to press me. Finally this winter I arranged it so I could go.

Dr. Pauquet has a thorough academic background — he has a Ph D degree and has studied philosophy, psychology, and theology. His early intentions were of becoming a "free writer" but the devaluation of German currency after the war turned him into journalism. "I would rather be an author, and perhaps live in the woods," he says with a far away look. "My heart is in books, but my hand in the paper."

Either way his career is summarized — as an author or an editor — it is impressive.

He is responsible for a dozen books — half of them novels, two on youth education, one on family problems, and three on modern society's problems.

As an editor, he and another man (this one a professor of theology) are responsible for the preparation of a weekly paper for the archdiocese of Co-logne, with a circulation of 330,000; and a bi-weekly story magazine with 15,000 readers.

German editors are the chief writing talent of the paper, and Dr. Pauquet is himself responsible for about two newspaper pages a week, writing on religious, cultural and educational subjects, supplemented with reviews of the communicative arts.

"I have seen papers like the New World and the Catholic Herald in Washington, and they are like a newspaper. Ours are more philosophical. There are larger articles, pondering religious and philosophical questions. Americans have no time to sit down and read for a long time. Your articles are always short. German life is calmer, slower; more time for inward looking," Dr. Pauquet says. "But I do not say this as a value, but only as an effect," he explains.

Dr. Pauquet's name is French, although his family has lived in Germany for several generations.

Dr. Pauquet was entertained on the Lawrence college campus, and early in his stay he made a tour of the administrative offices.

Germany's position as the re-awakened giant in West Europe? Of course, Dr. Pauquet has his ideas on the subject.

"The youth of all countries don't like to be soldiers; but I think that most of the people will contend that we Germans must defend our country, but not in the Prussian manner. There is confidence in Adenauer, and that he doesn't like militarism. But there must be a land army."

The Russians. "I think they have aggressive intentions, but they fear a war. I think it is impossible to have coexistence indefinitely."

Most important, "The American people need Europe for peace; Europe needs America for peace. They use us, and we use them."

If that is what Dr. Peter

Holforty Directs 'Miss Julia' for Drama Lab

The Lawrence College Theatre will present August Strindberg's "Miss Julia" in a tutorial laboratory production next Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the Union Viking room. The play, under the direction of Keith Holforty, features Nancy Klosterman, Clay Williams and Susan Dilday.

"Miss Julia" represents August Strindberg's most powerful contribution to naturalistic drama and has been designated by the author as a "naturalistic tragedy." No other play of Mr. Strindberg's has won such widespread attention and acclaim, both on account of its masterful construction and its gripping theme. The play is based on an actual incident that impressed Strindberg deeply when he heard it. He found well-suited to his conception of tragedy, the sad situation of a fortunately placed individual falling from her station and perishing.

The drama which these three act out is cast into an unbroken unit of an hour and a half, including an expertly arranged pantomime and a ballet done with lights and music. The setting is midsummer eve in the kitchen of Miss Julia's house in the country.

In the title role is cast Nancy

Klosterman, a junior transfer from Stephens college. Miss Klosterman gained her stage experience at Stephens and appeared in several plays and operas with roles in "The Cocktail Party," "You Can't Take it With You," "The Hypochondriac," "The Tales of Hoffman," "Rigoletto" and others. She is a drama major at Lawrence.

tand appeared in "The Crucible" last fall.

In the role of Miss Julia, she portrays the complex fate of a woman's background, the circumstances of the eve, the emotions of an excited physical state, and other factors that lead up to the fatal moment with the lackey in the secluded room and her destiny at the end of the play.

The valet, Jean, is being played by Clay Williams. A sophomore, Williams made his first appearance on the Lawrence stage in the role of Judge Hathorne in "The Crucible." The lackey characterizes an emotionally callous individual who is not sensitive about using other people's services, having the slave's brutality and the master's lack of squeamishness.

Susan Dilday, a freshman is cast as the female cook, Christine. Miss Dilday is planning on a theatre vocation and a drama major at Lawrence. The cook is a female slave, "full of servility and sluggishness acquired in front of the kitchen fire, and stuffed full of morality and religion that are meant to serve her at once as cloak and scapegoat." Christine becomes the spokesman of society acting between her affection for Jean and her loyalty to Miss Julia.

Directed by Keith Holforty, "Miss Julia" is a senior tutorial project in theatre. Holforty has appeared in several plays on the Lawrence stage and has been active in production work on several other shows.

Last spring he directed "Hands Across the Sea" for television in Neenah, radio in Appleton and the one-act performance in the Union. Holforty's direction of "Miss Julia" is geared to the symbolic and naturalistic production phases that Strindberg intended to be in the show.

The Lawrence College Theatre's one-act season, directed by students in the play directing class, will open in March after the major production of "Juno and the Paycock." The spring season will run ten plays including an operetta to be presented in the Union Viking Room.

Arty, Unique Social Event Coming

The Beaux Arts Ball committee says:

"Lawrence's college's most unusual social event is just around the corner. Now is the time to start thinking about it, though, because this particular event requires planning on the part of everyone concerned, not just the sponsors!"

"Needless to say, this year's Beaux Arts Ball will be bigger, better, gaudier and more unique than ever. The theme is "Out of this World", which means almost anything in the way of costumes will be acceptable. The more outlandish, the better! The important thing is, start planning now!! Don't wait till the last day or two to ask that certain person and to start planning costumes. Get started now! The best costumes will be awarded prizes."

"If you've never attended a costume ball, here's your chance. . . ask anyone who attended last year. They will agree that it was the most unusual and entertaining event of the season. Don't wait to ask others if they are going; they may steal your costume ideas! Now is the time to get to work. . ."

"LAA members will be admitted on their membership cards. Admissions will be available, however, at the door."

Gail Cramer is also a member of the Ski Club and has been secretary-treasurer of Aqua Fin and Golf manager. Peggy Landis is on the business staff of the Lawrence. She is a member of Aqua Fin and is co-social chairman of the French Club. She served on the Carnival committee and was a LUC solicitor. She is a member of Sigma.

The election of these officers will be Tuesday, February 22nd. All members of the WRA will have the opportunity to vote. The new officers will begin their term the first meeting after installation.

Local Church Sponsors Campus Lent Services

The Congregational church of Appleton has again invited all Lawrentians to attend the traditional campus Lenten Communion Services. The church has extended an invitation to students of all faiths. The first service is to be held Ash Wednesday, Feb. 23. This series of services will continue each Wednesday throughout Lent at 7:00 a.m. A breakfast follows, providing food and an opportunity for ecumenical fellowship. The church is two blocks west of the Conservatory. Students will be back in time for their 8:00 classes.

Universal Prayer Day

This Sunday, Feb. 20, is being observed as the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. At 7:30 Sunday morning there

Open Positions For Counsellors

Those sophomore and junior girls are interested in being freshmen counsellors for the coming year can secure application blanks from Miss Morton, the dean of women. Later the applicants will be interviewed personally, and will be given a short course acquainting them with the problems and methods of counselling.

A willingness to work with the freshmen and to give up time is the first requirement to be met by a girl wishing to be a counsellor. She must be in good academic standing. Experience in summer camp counselling is helpful, although not necessary.

Counsellors will return to school in the fall for the freshman orientation week.

will be a Corporate Communion at All Saints' Church for all Episcopal students. A breakfast will be served after this 7:30 Mass.

Name Anderson, Homes To Editorial Board

Two appointments to the editorial board of the Lawrentian have been made, according to the editor. Jacklyn Anderson and Phil Homes will serve on the board beginning next week.

Miss Anderson is a freshman. Freshmen are eligible to apply for the board after the first semester is ended. Miss Anderson is a pledge of Delta Gamma sorority and is an honor student.

Homes served as sports editor of the Lawrentian for the last two semesters. He is a member of the Contributor board and has worked on crews for several stage productions. A member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, Homes serves as recording secretary for the group.

Spanish Club to Elect Officers, View Slides

New officers for the Spanish club will be elected at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 22 in the Terrace room of the Union. Colored slides of Spain and Portugal will complement the program, according to an announcement by Miss Barbara Bruce, Spanish club president. Miss Meridith Masterson will show the slides that were taken by her father, Mr. Norton E. Masterson, when he attended the international Actuarial Congress in Madrid, Spain in the summer of 1954. Bullfights and historical landmarks and monuments of Madrid, Toledo and Lisbon are featured on the slides.

Hank Borg, Ripon forward, attempts to tip in a rebound in a flurry of action under the Ripon basket during the Lawrence-Ripon game at Alexander gymnasium. Closing in toward the basket for the Vikes are Mike Gahagen, foreground, "Stretch" Hart (23) and Hal Homann (partially hidden behind a Ripon man). Redmen in the action are Neil Daetz (30) and Ulysses Doss (70). Lawrence edged Ripon 55-52 in a thriller.

Varsity Cagers Trounce Ripon in See-Saw Battle

Drop Decision to Monmouth; Hal Homann Leads Scorers in Two Tilts

Spine-tingling finishes seemed to be in order for Coach Frosty Sprowl and his Lawrence cagers last week as the Vikes won a thriller from their arch-rival Ripon, 55-52 and lost a heartbreaker to the Monmouth Scots, 76-69 at Alexander Gym.

Hal Homann, sophomore forward, paced the Vikes' scoring on both nights, with his top effort coming in the Ripon contest with a 27 point spree. One of Homann's 13 baskets and "Sal" Cianciola's two free throws sewed up the decision for Lawrence in the last minute of play.

Ripon, a team not figured to give the Vikes too much trouble, gave Lawrence basketball fans a scare as they fought stubbornly in the see-saw battle which saw the lead change hands 10 times in the final half. Chuck Peterson, Ripon guard, spearheaded the Redmen's desperate attempt for victory in the waning minutes of the game and very nearly brought a win home for Ripon. With Peterson's hot shooting spree Ripon took the lead with a bit more than two minutes to play, 52-51, but then Homann and Cianciola came through for Lawrence clinching the victory.

The victory gave Lawrence a 4-3 conference record, a 7-5 season's mark and extended the Vikes' home floor winning streak to six straight games. The loss was Ripon's eleventh straight this season and pushed them even closer to the league basement with a record of 1-6.

The unusually low score, it was a Lawrence team's lowest winning effort in the last three years, was not the result of poor shooting but the result of both teams taking fewer attempts from the floor. The Vikes hit on 44 per cent of their 50 shots while Ripon scored on 38 per cent of their 56 shots.

On Friday night, the Vikings and the Monmouth Scots met to determine which team would hold undisputed fourth place in the Midwest conference. Lawrence, sparked by the ball-hawking of guard "Sal" Cianciola and Hal Homann's 20 points, ran up a lead that at one point was as high as 10 points over the Scots. But, the Illinois team had a ballplayer named Pete Kovacs and it will be quite some time before Coach Frosty Sprowl and his men forget what the blond Scot did to them last Friday night. The smooth-working guard tallied 32 points on nine field goals and 14 free throws and topped off his night's work with a display of fancy floor work to freeze the ball and maintain the Scot's narrow lead giving Monmouth a 76-69 victory.

Lawrence got off to a fast start, and ten straight points midway in the first half gave Coach Sprowl's cagers a 25-16 lead. The Vikes held on to this lead with the help of Homann's pet jump shot and Cianciola's alert defensive play and led at the intermission 35-29.

Homann

With about 10 minutes to play in the ball game, the Scots finally caught the Vikes after trailing for almost 20 minutes of play. For the next few minutes, the teams traded points with Monmouth finally taking the lead for good with six minutes to play. Lawrence fought gamely to recapture the lead but with a little over a minute in the game remaining the Vikes trailed by two points, 69-67. Then Kovacs took over and iced the contest for Monmouth by forcing the Vikings to foul and by sinking his last four free tosses.

Homann, with his 20 point output, along with Cianciola and Dick Gast with 14 and 13 points respectively led the Lawrence attack.

Fraternities Begin 2nd Half of Cage Schedule

Betas, Delts Defeat Sig Eps, Phi Taus in First Games of Series

	W	L
Phi Delta Theta	4	0
Beta Theta Pi	3	2
Delta Tau Delta	3	2
Phi Kappa Tau	2	3
Sigma Phi Epsilon	0	5
Last Week's Results
Beta Theta Pi 51, Sigma Phi Epsilon 35.
Delta Tau Delta 58, Phi Kappa Tau 52.

In the first games of the second round of interfraternity basketball last Saturday, the Betas trounced the Sig Eps and the Delts defeated the Phi Taus to move into a two-way tie for second place. The loss dropped the Phi Taus to fourth. The Phi Delts were idle but remain on top with a 4-0 record, two games ahead of both the Betas and Delts. The Sig Eps appear to be headed for a winless season and remain in the cellar.

The Betas moved to a 14-6 first quarter lead and were never headed in downing the Sig Eps. They lead 27-17 at the half and 40-25 at the three quarter mark. A pair of guards, Doug Hagen and Don Lehman led the Beta scoring with 14 and 11 points respectively. Rog Hall was the losers only consistent point-getter with 7.

The Phi Tau-Delt game was a wild and woolly affair. The score was knotted 11 all at the end of the first period and the Delts led by a narrow 24-21 margin at the half. A third quarter spurt gave them a huge 49-34 lead after three periods, and in the fast and furious final quarter they had to stave off a tremendous Phi Tau rally which on two occasions closed the gap to 3 points. Anderson and O'Neil with 12 points apiece led an ev-only divided Delt offense in which 5 men scored 10 or more points. Pat Barrett again led the Phi Taus with 21 points, the high total of the afternoon, and Homes added 15.

In the individual scoring race, Barrett leads by a wide margin with 107 points in five games. Lee O'Neil of the Delts is a distant second and Johnny Gundlach, who has played only four games, is in third. Doug Hagen of the Betas and Phil Homes of the Phi Taus are tied for fourth.

In team totals, the league-leading Phi Delts pace the offensive division and the Betas have a large lead in the defensive department.

Two Rivers Team Takes Swim Meet By 1 Point Margin

The freshman swimming team had a meet with the Two Rivers High school squad last week and were nosed out in a thriller 41-40.

The freshman, most of whom have not had much of a chance to do much in the way of getting in shape this year, fought the Two Rivers team right down to the wire.

Only five young Vikes took part for Lawrence. Bob Grossenbach won the 40 and 100 yard sprint events while Joe Cysewski out stroked the field in the tough 120 yard individual medley.

Craig Castle picked up a third in the diving and swam the backstroke, an event he had never swam before. Dave Bethe and Don Sibenhorn also swam rather well considering it was their first meet.

The young natators main problem seemed to be lack of numbers. With a few more swimmers the frosh would have turned the tide in their favor. The squad welcomes any frosh regardless of their previous experience. All that is needed is a desire.

This Friday night at 7:30 the little mermers have a rematch with the Two Rivers squad.

It should be a great meet to watch for you swimming fans, or even those who just like good close competition.

Lawrence Swimmers Suffer Twin Defeats in Home Stands

Outclassed in almost every event in their last two meets, the Viking swimmers went down to twin defeats at the hands of a strong Michigan Tech team last Friday night and Saturday afternoon by Wisconsin State College in the Alexander pool.

Friday a crowd ranging from 15-45 spectators saw the Vike mermen only manage one first place as they were sunk by the upper peninsula boys. Although many of the races were close, including Jim Schick's dead heat in the 50 yard freestyle, only Dave McIntyre of the blue and white was able to nab a first place.

Best performances were turned in by Schick in the sprints, Rolf Dehmelt in the 150 individual medley, and McIntyre. Dehmelt, who went down to his first defeat of the season at the hands of Tech's Herb Schieber who has yet to taste defeat in his college career, had been sick all week and was not up to par.

Capturing only two events out of a possible ten, the Anderson-men were swamped at the hands of the Green Gulls of State 60-24.

Rolf Dehmelt, who thus far has been the only real bright spot and consistent winner of the Vike squad, again took firsts in both of his specialties, the rugged individual medley and 200 yard backstroke. Co-captain Jim Schick again came up with two seconds in the 50 and 100 yard sprint events. Dave McIntyre was second in diving.

Tom Sprackling, who seems to be having a tough time getting in shape, stroked to a pair of thirds in the 220 and 440 distance events.

After the Gun

By Jim Morris and Doug Hagen

A man with a number 36 on the back of his red basketball jersey walked into Alaxender gymnasium last Friday night to play the Lawrence round ballers. His name was Pete Kovacs. It was paradoxical that his exhibition of basketball was viewed by one of the smallest crowds ever to watch a Viking basketball game.

This man Kovacs was simply fantastic. He did everything well. Outside of making 9 baskets in 21 attempts from the floor, which is very excellent shooting considering only a couple were layups, and hitting 14 out of 16 from the free throw line, Kovacs was also one of the top rebounders on the floor, and controlled the ball in a semi-stall in the waning moments of play. The thing probably most impressive about Mr. Kovacs, however, was his refusal to lose to poise. Another pretty fair ball player for Lawrence by the name of Cianciola made Kovacs look awfully poor on more than a few occasions, but this didn't slow Pete up one bit, as he got better and better as the game wore on. This is the test of a true champion, and Pete Kovacs passed with flying colors.

The Lawrence team looked as good in losing to Kovacs and the Scots from Monmouth as they had looked poor in defeating a hapless Redman five two nights before.

And while we're giving out orchids for noble tries, the grapplers must be commended for their showing against Stevens Point Saturday. John Clay led his opponent 7-0 with less than a period to go when he tried to go for a pin instead of hanging on for a decision victory, and got pinned himself in the process. Willie Schmidt had victory in his pocket until the last 20 seconds when his pointer opponent got a takedown for the win.

Along the same vein A. C. Denny deserves a large shoulder to cry on. His troubles were not bad enough when his ace quarter miler Gary Winske had an operation which threatens to eliminate him from the entire indoor season and Jimmie Smith was forced to drop out of the picture because of a bad heart, but now he finds out that Don Capelle, a member of the record setting mile relay team, has been forced to withdraw from school. In addition Dave Challoner, who coach Denny had counted on to fill in for injured Winske, has decided to quit track because of recurring nose bleeds caused by high blood pressure. When it rains, it pours!

Good to see that Soxs Landis was unable to see the wall on which the eye chart was mounted during his induction physical and consequently Formosa's loss is the freshmen basketball team's gain.

See you next week . . . After The Gun.

Ripon Cagers Beat Vike Frosh

Last Wednesday the Lawrence frosh lost to the Ripon yearlings in the prelim to the varsity game by the score of 70-61.

The young Riponites jumped off to a 9 point half-time lead and were never headed. The Vike frosh closed the gap to 5 counters with about 7 minutes to play on two nice long shots by Buck and a drive-in by guard Bill Wood, but the Redmen pulled away before the Viking frosh could close the gap any further.

Vike Grapplers Lose Match to Point Mat Squad

Last Saturday the Lawrence grapplers lost their second match to Stevens Point State Teachers College by a score of 23-10.

The score, however, did not indicate fairly the true closeness of the match. After Dick Beringer was beaten fairly decisively by Point's McMahon, Jim Sears lost by a pin in the final minute of his match in the 137 class.

Chuck Cappetta most certainly would have wound up with more than a draw for his efforts, had he not been rubbery from losing approximately 8 pounds in 24 hours.

At 157 pounds Willy Schmidt was leading Al Atto by a score of 4-2 with less than a minute to go, but lost the decision on a takedown and a reversal by Atto. Along these same lines John Clay did a tremendous job against Point's highly rated

Ken Hurlbut, leading him 7-0 with less than a period to go. In trying for a pin, however, Clay himself fell into the three count mat position, and dropped the match.

Ron Hall, who has been Law-

LUCKY DROODLES! WE'VE GOT 'EM!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.

IT'S EASY TO SEE that the Doodle above is titled: Tired anthropologist relaxing with better-tasting Lucky behind freshly dug-up fossil. No bones about it, Luckies taste better to all sorts of people. College smokers, for instance, prefer Luckies to all other brands, according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coastest college survey. Again, the No. 1 reason for Luckies' wide lead: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.

"Really, some people will go to hear anything."

Clouds of river steam and ice glare contributed to the mishaps in 20-degrees-below-zero weather (and you think it's cold in Appleton?). Ten of the 22 vehicles had to be towed away, but no one was seriously hurt, the Minnesota Daily reported.

At the University of Minnesota last week, the school's Quiz Bowl kids, who have downed twelve universities in the weekly College Quiz Bowl program Saturday nights over NBC, were completely thrown by one question. No one could recite the second stanza of the university's alma mater, "Minnesota, Hail to Thee."
